It's about connecting

 STERIS

It's about seeing patients differently

We didn't get into healthcare to become computer experts. We chose this career to make a difference in patients' lives. And in their families' lives. Therefore, we want tools that are about the patient first, and are simple to use. We want tools that help us deliver the highest level of patient care.

It's about confidence

A high-performance team is able to confront demanding surgical procedures with a sense of purpose, focus and confidence. As modern ORs become increasingly complex, we believe manufacturers must inspire confidence through equipment that is reliable and intuitive, and that eliminates distractions and puts the team in control.

It's about simplicity

Sophisticated technology doesn't have to mean difficult-to-use, and Harmony iQ® Integration Systems proves that. In a study measuring perceptions of OR integration systems among surgeons, OR directors and nurses, STERIS ranked highest in ease-of-use; a badge we wear proudly.*

It's about efficiency

It's about safety

Efficient workflow is a product of people, processes and technology working together both within and outside the OR. An example of how we help you manage this challenge is with our RealView® Visual Workflow Management Software product. RealView Software provides automatic, real-time information about cases, rooms and staff to managers, nurses, physicians and even patient families.

A patient-centric approach must include an uncompromising dedication to safety. Our advanced S.A.F.E. (Situational Awareness For Everyone) feature provides a dynamic, real-time view of critical information about the patient and the case. Our equipment is designed for the clinical environment, including designs that reduce cabling and tripping hazards, improve cleanability and prevent contaminants from being vented by surgical monitors.

It's about alleviating anxiety

When the patient is wheeled into the OR, SignatureSuite can transform the room into a calming, spa-like environment with a single touch. Elements such as relaxing imagery, peaceful music and a softening of the room's lighting and temperature settings can help alleviate anxiety, while improving the patient's experience and outcome. Once the patient is asleep, another single touch transforms the room to the preferences of the surgeon and staff.

"By having the lights dimmed and the scenes on the screens, it gives the room a more serene feeling. You can tell the patient then has an overall sense of calmness. Their anxiety and stress is relieved."

It's about high-performance

The surgeon and staff depend on outstanding image quality to perform at their best. STERIS takes an uncompromised approach to delivering a high-quality image*, starting with the fiber-optic backbone of the system that transmits full HD signals from end-to-end. Our Vividimage surgical-grade monitors deliver unparalleled color, clarity and crispness.

It's about technology today ...

... and tomorrow

Originally focused on video routing, OR integration is now defined by a broad set of applications within and beyond the room itself. Our Harmony iQ® Perspectives Image-Management System enables surgeons to archive, edit, and share captured media from the surgical case. Both Perspectives and our Call and Connect video conferencing solution delivers ease of use with uncompromised HD video.

Recognizing some Customers fear the rapid pace of technological change when making a significant investment, we are committed to a fiber-optic architecture that is both open and upgradeable. At the same time, we embrace tomorrow by continually investing in solutions that can help address the needs of the clinical environment, from surgical outcomes to patient safety to streamlined workflow.
